Investment Comments

The Optimize Portugal Golden Opportunities fund increased by 0.3% in the last month, while the PSI 20 Total Return index ended the same period with a 1.2% decline.

The main contributor for the month was once again Mota Engil, which appreciated by 34.6%, benefiting from new contracts in Africa and Latin America. We also highlight the heavyweight Galp, rose by 9.6% in a month marked by two significant announcements of high-quality oil discoveries on an ongoing drilling campaign in Namibia, thereby increasing the likelihood of success in that exploration.

On the flip side, we note the performance of EDP and EDPR, which declined by 9.1% and 18.8%, respectively. They were negatively impacted by downward revisions in energy prices by some European peers and also by the rise in interest rates.
